FIELD JACKET WOMEN

The Field Jacket is part of a flexible and durable field uniform designed to withstand challenging weather conditions in spring, summer, and autumn. The material offers excellent moisture management, is lightweight, and quick-drying, making the garment suitable for various scenarios and environments. It also features No-Melt, No-Drip protection to help prevent burn injuries. The jacket includes numerous functional details such as a helmet-compatible hood, ventilation openings, reinforced and padded elbow protection, and several practical pockets. When weather conditions shift, it can be paired with base layers or suitable insulating garments.
